TAPE FROM HAROLD WEISBERG ON CHAPTER II

Quotation for introduction

"Perfection is not a state of man. All governments have flaws. All systems of government have flaws. But there is not a country in the world other than this in which a man who has no special resources would be allowed to do what I have done, would be allowed to sue the government, to make the government disclose information it was withholding, would be allowed to print these things....

"In this country, the citizen has the obligation to participate to the degree he's capable ~~of it~~ in a representative society. Second, for all our flaws, there's not another country in the world in which a man could do what I did. "
